

Share

Add to my cover

View full article

Close

#TIMESHARE #DISTRIBUTED BY TRIBUNE CONTENT AGENCY
#SEA OF CORTEZ #LORETO BAY NATIONAL MARINE PARK

TRAVEL Magical mystery on the Sea of Cortez

Chicago Tribune 8 Points

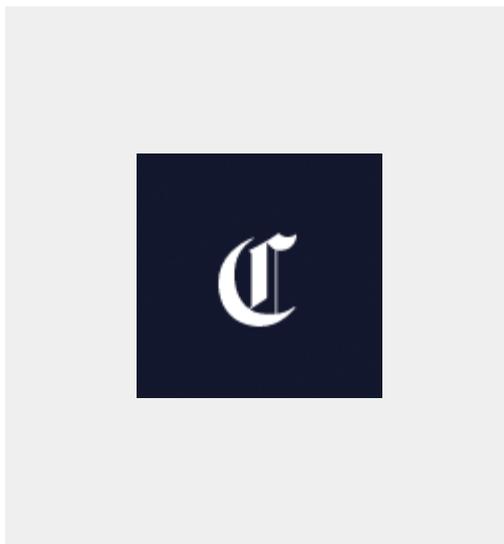

15/12

Auto-Summary

Computer glitches

were blamed for losing room requests and timeshare owners' names.

LORETO, Mexico What are people doing today and tomorrow at the Villa del Palmar, the mystery resort you've never heard of, south of Loreto, on Mexico's Gulf of California. The closest other restaurants and shopping are in the historic town of Loreto, about 30 minutes away by shuttle bus or taxi. Like all resorts in their first year or two Villa del Palmar opened in the spring of 2011 some problems surfaced.

1

LORETO, Mexico What are people doing today and tomorrow at the Villa del Palmar, the mystery resort you've never heard of, south of Loreto, on Mexico's Gulf of California? For some, the answer is "nothing."

When I asked the man digging clams on the beach what was up, he answered "Not much, just relaxing, looking at the scenery." I asked the woman perched on the pool deck near me and she said the same thing. "Oh, nothing, really. I'm just enjoying the solitude." Splashing in the bay, I exchanged smiles with a snorkeler who popped up nearby and all I got were bubbles and a far-away look, as if words were superfluous.