

Advertise | Newsletters | Contact Us SUBSCRIBE NOW | Log in | Activate digital access

T tucson.com
Arizona Daily Star

56°
Clear
Weekly Forecast

sponsored by
Jack Furrier
TIRE & AUTO CARE
Service Since 1960
JackFurrier.com

Advanced Search | Privacy | About Our Ads

Site

powered by Google Custom Search

Home | News | Business | Sports | All Headlines | Video | Life | Fun | Opinion | Cars | Jobs | Classifieds | Obits | Homes | Fry's

Home / Travel / National

Ski Speak: Going skiing? Do the mashed potatoes

Print | Email |

Steve Haggerty / TNS

Avid skiers are savvy to terminology used on the slopes, including phrases such as "huck," "noodle" and "ripper."

What's Hot

Trending | Most read

- Officials ID Tucson driver killed in wrong-way freeway wreck
- Arizona football: 5 reasons why Territorial Cup is anyone's game : Arizona Wildcats
- Miller proud of nation's longest home winning streak : Arizona basketball
- Peach wins Ronstadt Center redevelopment project
- Tucson couple owns top-selling Dairy Queen
- Chipotle Draws Criticism For E.Coli Outbreak, Data Shows What's Likely to Blame
- Gabrielle Giffords plans to ride 40-mile El Tour route
- Arizona football: Unpredictability the 1 thing you can count on : Arizona football

November 02, 2015 7:15 am • By Anne Z. Cooke Tribune News Service

SNOWMASS, Colo. — Did last winter’s ski instructor — “ski pros” they’re called — drive you crazy, going on and on about carving, corn and mashed potatoes? That wasn’t Thanksgiving dinner he was talking about. That was Ski Speak, the lingo you need to learn if you want to fit in with the “rippers” on the slopes. Shout a few phrases to your ski buddies and you’ll snow the “gapers” in the lift line.

BLACK DIAMOND: Steepest, most difficult run on the mountain. A double-black diamond run is even more so.

BOILER PLATE: Hard icy snow, a surface so dense your skis can’t make an edge.

BOWL: A wide-open snowy basin, usually above timberline, often below a cornice atop a ridge.

BRAIN BUCKET: A helmet, the kind of protection smart skiers swear by.

BUMP: A hulking mogul of snow, originally an insignificant pimple that grows into a mound as skiers steer around it.

CABLE CAR: A room-size metal cabin suspended on a cable and big enough to carry 25-100 skiers uphill at once.

CARVE: To press the uphill edges of your skis into the snow — “edging” — in order to make a controlled descent.

CAT TRACK: Narrow ski trails, sometimes snow-covered maintenance roads that connect ski runs otherwise separated by cliffs, ravines or woods. Often added next to a black diamond run so beginners have an easy way to get back to the base area.

CHOCOLATE CHIPS: Rocks sticking up out of the snow, more dangerous than death cookies.

CORDUROY: Freshly groomed snow marked with thin, parallel grooves. See snow cat.

CORN: Crumbly, cornlike spring snow that has melted and refrozen.

CORNICE: Overhanging rim of snow or ice, often on a ridgetop, usually windblown.

C-TURNS: Wide, semicircular turns beginners do when practicing carving techniques.

DEATH COOKIES: Crunchy, crusty bits of snow that form when snow melts during the day and refreezes at night. Hitting a patch of it at high speed acts like a brake.

EAT WOOD: What you’ll do if you lose control and hit a tree.

EDGES: The second-most used term in the instructor’s vocabulary. The right and left edges of each ski. Press one or the other into the snow to make a controlled downhill turn.

0

9 City will ask Ninth Circuit for rehearing on elections case

10 Man arrested in University of Arizona burglary case

Featured businesses View more...

Jack Furrier Tire and Auto Centers

Kinetico Quality Water

La Entrada Apartments

Arizona Pistachio Nursery

Mike's Drilling LLC

All Categories
	Gary's Towing Driver Trainee
	Arizona MENTOR Case Manager
Select A Video To The Right TO GET STARTED	Town of Sahuarita Office Assistant - Town Clerk
Arizona Daily Star careerbuilder.com	Premier Care In Bathing Needs Independent Sales Reps
	El Rio Community
	View All

TUCSON.COM NEWSLETTERS

Sign up for Tucson.com e-mail newsletters

FALL LINE: The most-used term in the instructor's "Skiing in Ten Lessons" manual. This is the downhill direction a rock would roll if it fell, and where the skis will go if they slide downhill by themselves. If you fall, keep your skis at right angles to the fall line.

FIRST TRACKS: The first joyous run of the day on fresh snow, the reward for early risers who are first up on the chairlift, and first back down.

GAPERS: Novice skiers and onlookers who spend more time standing around than actually skiing.

GROOMING: What snow cats do at night, mashing, crumbling and re-smoothing snow in preparation for the next day's skiers.

HIGH SPEED QUAD, or SIXPACK: An open chairlift for four to six skiers that moves uphill at high speed, but slows down to load and unload skiers.

HUCK: To ski off a cliff or mound, getting airborne in the process.

MASHED POTATOES: Mushy spring snow often found at busy trail crossings or near the base area at the end of a warm day.

NOODLE: A ski so old or so poorly built that it won't stay rigid enough for fast skiing.

OUT-OF-BOUNDS: Terrain outside the resort's legal boundaries, ungroomed, generally unpatrolled and unsafe. Skiing out of bounds will cost you your lift ticket.

PLANT: Not a weed or a flower, but the act of planting, as in "to plant your poles," i.e. sticking the point of your pole in the snow to initiate a turn.

POWDER HOUND: A skier whose day isn't complete until he finds a powder stash.

POWDER STASH: 1. A slope where the snow is deep, light and undisturbed; 2. A virgin patch the obsessed "hound" doesn't reveal.

RIPPER: An expert skier, the kind of skilled athlete you hope to become.

SKI PRO: A puffed-up name for a ski instructor. The likely precursor to "ski professor."

TERRAIN: Various measurable acreage with physical features including slopes, steeps, valleys, woods, ridges and some man-made features.

TUCK: To crouch down in a racing position, knees bent and poles against your sides. A "no tucking" sign means no racing down a crowded slope.

WIDOW-MAKER: The steepest, narrowest, toughest run on the mountain, usually attempted by the very gifted or the very foolish.

Copyright 2015 Arizona Daily Star. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

Tags Freestyle Skiing, Sports, Skiing, Consumer Products And Services, Industries, Business

View 0 Comments